Hat photo leads to two arrests

BY DENA BISNETTE
A photo of a cap has helped the Hancock County Sheriff's Department arrest two Waveland residents, including a 15-year-old juvenile, in connection with a string of burglaries that occurred last Thursday night.
The juvenile and a third suspect are also believed to have been involved in a robbery-shooting in St. Tammany Parish, La.
According to Sheriff Ronald Peterson, the adult suspect, Sammy Jordan, was arrested after the sheriff's department received information from a person who had seen a Sea Coast Echo photo of a cap found at the site of one of the burglaries.
The burglaries occurred at Sea Coast Echo, the Hancock County School District offices in the county youth court building, Chapman Office Supply, Haas and Haas attorneys' offices, Sun-Herald Bay Bureau and Mississippi Power.
"We felt the hat was the key that led us to the perpetrators of this crime," the sheriff said.
Peterson said officers of the sheriff's department, Waveland Police Department and Bay St. Louis Police Department surrounded Jordan's residence at 408 Sidney St. on Sunday afternoon.

Waveland sales tax to increase by cent

BY DENA BISNETTE
People who shop in Waveland will soon have to pay an extra penny of sales tax.
The Waveland Board of Aldermen met Tuesday to finalize a municipal sales tax bond issue that will be used to pay for the settlement of a lawsuit the city lost last year.

Board attorney Lucien Gex said Merchants Bank and Trust Company will serve as trustees for the money generated by the sales tax bond, which totals $551,733.
The $551,733 covers payments to Travelers Insurance, against which the city lost a civil suit on which the final judgement was returned Feb. 28.
Gex said the suit concerned a contract for the installation of a sewage system. The city brought the suit against Travelers, the bonding company, alleging that the job had never been completed, he explained. The insurance company claimed to be entitled to the balance of the contract payments.
The case was tried in October 1983. Gex said the new sales tax is not expected to become effective until about Dec. 1 because the state Tax Commission needs about 30 days to inform local merchants that it has been approved.
Also Tuesday, the aldermen approved a set of rules for the use of the newly renovated civic center. The center, housed in the former Waveland School building, will be

Bayou Cadet project proves more expensive than planned

BY DENA BISNETTE
Construction of a marina at Bayou Cadet could cost up to $2.5 million, but only about $1 million in grant funding is expected to be available at present.
Members of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors met Tuesday with representatives of South Mississippi Planning and Development District, Gulf Regional Planning Commission, Bureau of Marine Resources and Sea Grant Advisory Service to discuss preliminary cost estimates for the project.

Also attending the meeting were state Senator Gene Taylor and James DeBlanc, executive director of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission.
A preliminary plan for a 200 slip marina for boats from 16 to 60 feet long was presented by Gulf Regional Representative Jeff Taylor, Gordon Larson of BMR and David Veal of Sea Grant.

The design used for the cost estimates could be placed anywhere along Bayou Cadet, Jeff Taylor said, and will cost from $2.4 to $2.5 million.
Sea Grant prepared the report using already available studies on the Bayou Cadet area and similar facilities.

Jeff Taylor said he is still in the process of preparing an application for a Community Development Block Grant through the Governor's Office of State and Federal Programs.
That grant, funded by Economic Development Authority money, would cover $500,000 if it can be obtained.
There is some possibility that the county can make approval of the grant more likely if the project is classified as a demonstration project, Kathy Garner of SMPDD told the group.
The second $500,000 available would come from a local bond issue.
Sen. Taylor argued that additional funding must be sought from other agencies or a smaller marina will have to be built.

Nicolaou pleads guilty, Cockern to plead Friday

Allen Nicolaou, 19, was sentenced to 30 years for each of two counts of kidnapping, 40 years for armed robbery and two mandatory life sentences on murder charges Monday after pleading guilty in Circuit Court.
His trial was scheduled to begin Monday but Nicolaou pled guilty and sidestepped the chance of being sentenced the death penalty. Through plea-bargaining the charges for capital murder were reduced to murder.

Circuit Judge J. Ruble Griffin ordered that with the exception of the second kidnapping sentence, the sentences would run consecutively. This will prevent Nicolaou from being eligible for parole for nearly 38 years.

Nicolaou, along with Robert Cockern were charged with the shooting deaths of Gerald Comiskey of Waveland and Keith McMillan of New Orleans. The shootings took place at Comiskey's home in January of this year.
The armed robbery took place at the Old Rooster Cafe in Kiln and Nicolaou was charged with the kidnapping of two teen-age girls from the cafe.
Nicolaou admitted to the shooting during the July Cockern trial which ended in a mistrial.
Cockern is scheduled to plead before Judge James Thomas Friday in Biloxi, according to Pamela Metzler, chief deputy circuit clerk for Hancock County.

Supervisors' attorney Walter Gex said some guarantee of federal funding would have to be obtained before funds could be raised by a bond issue.
"The only funding for which application has already been made is a BMR grant that would pay for engineering that might be needed to make another grant application specific enough for approval.
Larson said that grant has not yet been approved.
The group decided Tuesday to concentrate on trying to set up a meeting with CDBG program officials to discuss the possibility of obtaining more than $500,000 or supplementing it with other grants.

Citizens voice sewage complaints

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors is again looking into ways to solve a sewage problem in Shoreline Park.
The board decided Tuesday to ask the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District and county building inspector Don Murray for help in controlling the problem in Shoreline Park as well as other parts of the county.
According to Malcolm Tullier of Shoreline Park Civic Association, numerous violations of state septic tank regulations and related laws are occurring daily in Shoreline Park.
These violations include the use of inadequate septic tank systems or no septic tanks and the release of raw sewage into ditches and canals or directly onto the ground.
Tullier and other Shoreline Park residents have discussed the problem with the supervisors in the past and have been informed by board attorney Walter Gex III that the problem is one of enforcement rather than a lack of septic tank regulations.
After Tullier and other Shoreline Park residents appealed to wastewater district officials for help, the board found that the wastewater district does have the authority to enforce septic tank regulations but does not have enough personnel to do so.
Enforcement can also be carried out through the county health department, but Tullier said no help has been available there.
Gex, who is a member of the wastewater board, suggested that district officials put together a cost estimate on how much it would cost to enforce existing state septic tank laws.
Supervisor Bert Courge said the problem of personnel could be solved by employing the county building inspector on a part-time basis for septic tank inspections.

"He's already out there to check elevations, and if he has to make any tests the wastewater people can analyze them," Courge said.
Gex said the matter will be brought up at the next wastewater meeting.
Another problem that has haunted the supervisors in the past that returned Monday was waterway speed limits.
Tullier asked the board to meet with the Bureau of Marine Resources Department of Wildlife and Fisheries representative in Pass Christian to see if speed limits can be imposed on dead-end canals.
The supervisors said they would look into the possibility.
The board had previously set speed limits on some county waterways, but had to rescind the order after finding that waterway speed limits do not fall under the supervisors' jurisdiction.
In other business, the board accepted a bid on $400,000 in limited bonds for Hancock General

Supervisors hear public thanks for BaySide signs

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors got a surprise at Monday's meeting.
Instead of receiving a complaint from a citizen, the board received thanks.
Eugene Aaronstein of BaySide Park, who had addressed the board on previous occasions about the lack of stop signs in the subdivision, publicly thanked the supervisors for correcting the problem.
"There have been no accidents on the corner by the clubhouse since the signs were placed there, and I've got to say that people have been observing them. Even the speeders are slowing down, and I appreciate that," Aaronstein said.

Supervisor Bert Courge, whose beat includes BaySide Park, said about 200 stop signs were placed in the subdivision during the summer.
"We've had a small problem with some of them being stolen, but nothing like we had before, and we're getting results," he said.
"We hear so much about the bad things that it's nice to hear something good for a change," Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner told Aaronstein.
Shortly before the stop signs were provided by the county, Aaronstein had stated that most of the signs had been mutilated or stolen and that their absence was contributing to frequent accidents at some of the busier intersections.

Tonight the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club will hold its annual Community Fund Raising Dinner at Christ Episcopal's Virginia Hall.

Dinner will be served from 5:30 to 8 p.m. and we are told by Jan Brameyer, supply chairman, there will be a good meal for a donation of $5.

The event is a joint effort by the 65 members of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club and proceeds are used by the organization for many of its community projects.

Over the years we have enjoyed the Rotary's dinner and hope to see everyone there.

Tickets can be purchased from Rotary Club members or at the door.

Virginia Hall is located adjacent to Christ Episcopal Church, 912 S. Beach, Bay St. Louis.

Several hunting seasons have already opened with others to follow in the upcoming weeks.

There are many lands in our county which are posted, and yet people without permission try to hunt on them.

Pat Toomey, Mississippi State Conservation office, (Game Warden), tells us there have been several persons already ticketed this year for hunting on posted lands.

If land is posted, a hunter has to have written permission from the owners to be on it.

International Paper Company owns much land in Hancock's woods and a permit is needed to hunt on the areas where hunting is allowed.

It is our understanding the limits on fines for hunting on posted lands have been increased and it hasn't been cheap for violators.

Another complaint received by the sheriff's office is hunters cutting through fences. This has already been reported several times this year.

We know many people like to hunt, but people's property has to be respected.

Football in high schools continues to be the highlight of Friday nights.

This week Bay High's Tigers will be away from home visiting St. Martin's Yellow Jackets.

The Tigers have been playing some exciting ball in recent weeks after starting the season with numerous injuries.

Bay High players got a good workout against East Central last week, but things will be different this week as St. Martin is a much stronger team.

Keeping everything together, Bay High can wrap up another victory over the Yellow Jackets.

Things have really improved for Hancock North Central after the first four games of this season. The Hawks too had key injury problems and a victory was long in coming.

Last week Hancock won one by a baseball score of 7-2 to make it a string of three victories.

Mercy Cross will be visiting Hancock in Hawk stadium Friday. The Hawks can even their season record with a good game against Mercy Cross.

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws should bounce back this week against East Central. They do have to forget last week's game against state ranked Petal.

We hope East Central's record will not lull the Rocks to sleep and cause Stanislaus to take them too lightly.

Pass Christian's Pirates, probably the most improved high school football team on the Gulf Coast since the season opened will host Vancleave.

Pass Christian is fresh from a 11-9 victory over ever so powerful Pearl River Central and should keep the momentum going against the Bulldogs.

We know Pirate fans are really happy with the improvements their team is showing each week.

In eight-man high school football which is new to our area, Coast Episcopal's Red Raiders will Journey to Foley, Ala. to play Open Door Bible Friday.

The Raiders defeated Open Door Academy earlier this season. We hope CEHS players will remember things could have changed since the beginning of the season and will be prepared as if they had not met earlier this year.

All high school football fans are urged to support their favorite team this week, it helps their play when the stands are full of supporters.

This morning at 7:30 a.m., Senator Gene Taylor is the scheduled speaker at the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Morning Edition.

Taylor will give his opposition to a proposed amendment to the state's constitution. It deals with elected officials and their business dealings with various state governmental agencies.

This is an interesting subject and we hope many will attend the event which will be held at Rose's Cafe, 220 Coleman Ave., Waveland.

We owe an apology to Hancock County sheriff's dispatcher Melba Necaie, whose name we goofed in our column Sunday.

BUSY OFFICE—The bookkeeping and secretary duties are done in the same office at the Hancock County sheriff's office. Mary Biehl, left, bookkeeper; and Mary Tartavouille, secretary for the sheriff's office work among over stuffed cabinets and desks. This room which is shared for both functions is over crowded like every office of the sheriff's department. There is an urgent need for a new jail in Hancock County which will help solve the overcrowded conditions. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

Position Paper on Proposed Amendment to Mississippi Constitution

By Paul M. Neville, vice president, Common Cause of Mississippi

On Nov. 6, voters will find on the ballot a proposed amendment to the Mississippi State Constitution. Taken at face value, the amendment appears commendable and worthy of support. However, its legal effect would be to radically alter permissible conduct for public officials, especially state legislators, and their dealings with state government.

The 1890 Constitution of this state has several provisions which prohibit public officials from entering into business contracts with the State of Mississippi, if such contracts have been engendered through their appropriation powers. Section 109—the provision which the proposed amendment would invalidate—prohibits a state legislator from having an interest in any contract which results from an action taken by the state Legislature of which he is a member this prohibition continues until one year after the time that he ceases being a member of the Legislature.

When an individual offers himself for public office and is elected, he is vested with the stewardship of the public monies for the general good. If he can also receive those same funds through a separate contract, a conflict of interest exists. Section 109 of the Mississippi Constitution seeks to avoid just such conflicts of interest by prohibiting these private contracts.

The same constitutional provision applies to boards of supervisors, city councils, and boards of aldermen.

This constitutional provision, along with accompanying laws, has been strictly enforced down through the years by the Mississippi Supreme Court. That court has routinely held that such conflict-of-interest contracts are prohibited—even where the contract is beneficial to the state or where there is no evidence of any wrongdoing.

The court based its decisions on the simple, universal principle that a public servant should serve only one master—that of the general good. The mere existence of a private interest contrary to the general interest is to be avoided at all costs.

This system has worked without serious challenge for over 90 years in Mississippi. However, in 1981 the Supreme Court upheld the conviction of State Senator Nap Cassibry, who had been convicted of violating the Constitution and its accompanying statutes. At about the same time, Senator Bill Burgin of Columbus was convicted of federal charges involving allegations of similar self-dealing with state governmental agencies.

These convictions and unsuccessful appeals started a movement by certain state legislative leaders to loosen the existing Constitution and laws to allow business dealings between legislators and state agencies. The first step came with the 1983 "ethics" law, purportedly seeking to codify what was a conflict of interest and what was not.

That statute actually permitted most of the contractual relations that had been prohibited for 94 years, particularly on the part of state legislators. However, no effort was made at that time to alter the state Constitution. Its original prohibitions stood unchanged. This left in place a perfect constitutional conflict: a statute that says a legislator can do one thing, and the state Constitution which ways that it is prohibited.

Common Cause brought this problem to the attention of the Mississippi Ethics Commission, which under the 1983 law was charged with enforcing its terms. Since our system of government places supreme authority in the Constitution, the Commission ruled the statute invalid.

Supporters of legislative profiteering went back to the drawing boards and in 1984 produced the proposed constitutional amendment now before the voters. Like the 1983 statute, it guts the prohibition against legislators dealing and contracting for their own private gain with agencies of state government, and thereby profiting from tax dollars they themselves have appropriated.

Under the proposed amendment, the only prohibition remaining against legislators is contracting with the Legislature itself. All state agencies become fair game for their profit. That is the reason that this amendment is a radical diversion from existing law and moral principle.

In promoting this radical change in ethical standards, some legislators have pointed to the peculiar situation presented by teachers who either serve in the Legislature or who have spouses serving in the Legislature. They argue that these teaching contracts are at hazard, since the legislators or their spouses vote on school appropriations.

However, it must be realized that this argument is merely technical. It has never been tested or ruled upon by a state court. No teacher has ever been deprived of a contract, nor has any legislator been challenged in his duties because of his spouse's employment in the state school systems. This issue has never been raised except in the minds of legislators seeking to justify personal profits from public office. What did happen was that the courts caught two

Special Report from Senator Gene Taylor

Taxpayers could be opening the door of the henhouse to foxes if they approve a constitutional amendment that would practically eliminate any safeguards against a public official profiting from his office, said State Sen. Gene Taylor of Bay St. Louis, who represents District 46.

On Nov. 6, the voters will be asked to approve or reject an amendment to Section 109 of the Constitution referred to as the conflict of interest bill. Taylor urges the voters to vote "no."

"The law, as it now stands, prohibits office holders from being interested directly or indirectly in any contract authorized by a public body of which he is a member, and for one year after he leaves office," Taylor said. "This means that a city councilman may not bid on a city road project and may not sell supplies to any division of the city. A state legislator may not contract with a state agency such as the highway or health department and a county supervisor may not benefit from a road contract."

"This provision protects the public from the potential of corruption in government, giving an assurance that an office holder spending public money does not divert any of that money to his or her pocket," Taylor said.

"The voters are asked to approve a measure that would weaken these assurances in two ways," he said.

"First, it would merely restrict a public official from being interested in a contract with the body of which he is a member. For a state legislator, that would mean that he could not gain from a contract to repair the state house, or, if he is a member of the State Highway Commission, from any benefits from contracts with the commission," Taylor stated.

"However, it would not prohibit him from selling heavy equipment to a board of supervisors or a municipal government, even though he takes part in deliberations which set supervisors' salaries and local tax levies," Taylor continued.

"Second, the proposal defines a violation of conflict of interest laws, not as the use of his office for gain, but as the 'misuse' of his office for gain. What is the difference between using one's office to gain a contract and misusing that office to gain a contract? Who would define 'misuse' in this context?" Taylor said.

"The bottom line is that people should seek public office out of a desire to improve our government—not to increase their own personal or business profit at the expense of taxpayers. Any purchases or sales between public officials and government will create the potential for abuse and the appearance of impropriety. These type of activities have been illegal for 94 years and should remain illegal," the senator emphasized.

"My arguments with this amendment were written in response to an exact interpretation of the existing law by the State Ethics Commission in which even public school teachers and their spouses would be unable to hold office," Taylor said.

"Mississippi needs to attract talented, honest and hard-working people to public office. The Legislature could, in its next session in January, address the issue of the exclusion of certain well-qualified people under the commission's strict interpretation so that teachers and their spouses may hold public office," Taylor added.

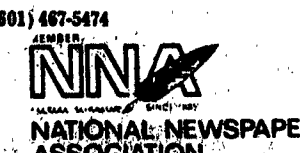

"The answer to this problem is not to move to the opposite extreme of so weakening the conflict of interest laws that public office becomes attractive as a means of private gain. And that is what the amendment would do," Taylor said.

For any further information call Taylor, 467-2609.

NEW LASER SURGERY OFFERED—Dr. Robert A. Little, ophthalmologist at the Gulf Coast Community Hospital, works on patient with the new laser system. The laser will be used for microsurgical treatment of eye diseases.

Hospital has new laser surgery system

A new laser system for microsurgical treatment of retinal disease, glaucoma and diabetic eye disease has been purchased by Gulf Coast Community Hospital.

Dr. Robert A. Little, an ophthalmologist at the hospital will be routinely using the new argon laser ophthalmic photocoagulator.

Little's brother, Dr. Hunter L. Little of Palo Alto, Calif., and Stanford Medical School, has been instrumental in the development of this laser, having collaborated with the manufacturer for more than 15 years.

The laser produces a tiny but powerful light beam capable of sealing off hemorrhaging blood vessels in the eye and sealing tiny holes in the retina. The new laser can also be used for treating certain types of glaucoma.

"It is one of the many improvements that has occurred in the field of eye care over the past several years," Little said.

The National Eye Institute has confirmed that the laser can stabilize diabetic retinopathy in many patients.

Diabetic retinopathy, uncommon only a few decades ago, has in two generations become a leading cause of blindness and visual disability in the United States, according to an article in the American Journal of Ophthalmology.

Analyses of visual acuity and visual field results in a diabetic retinopathy study provide evidence that photocoagulation treatment is of benefit in preventing severe visual loss.

"The laser is a form of photocoagulation which literally means, 'to burn with light,'" Little said. "This particular form of treatment has been in use as such for approximately 20 years. Prior to that time we used other forms of light coagulation."

Little joined the staff at Gulf Coast Community Hospital when it opened in 1976. He received his degree from Tulane University and began his practice on the Coast in 1964.

Essex Cable TV to added channels

Essex Cable TV, formerly Hancock Community Cable, is expanding both its basic and premium channel offerings Nov. 1, according to Jake Jacob, system manager.

Five new features are being added to the existing basic service to make a super basic tier and one additional pay service will be offered.

"The new super basic will have 16 channels and this with the two pay channels will bring the total to 18," Jacob allowed.

Jacob cited the new superbasic channels as Music Television, The Nashville Network, Weather Channel, Lifetime, and USA.

Cinemax will augment Home Box Office in the movies and specials pay service department.

"All the new programming will be received via satellite, a factor resulting in completely revamping the layout of the 'headend' to enable the installation of considerable amounts of new electronics," Jacob added.

In outlining the new services, the cable manager said, the Weather Channel is a 24-hour input of the very latest in weather information, providing local and as well as national weather patterns and predictions.

Music Television (MTV) is geared to the younger audience, and will provide a continuing video and stereophonic audio presentation of the latest in contemporary music.

Lifetime, also screening around the clock, will provide subscribers with programs on health, nutrition, exercise, life styles, and so forth.

The Nashville Network features country and western fare, providing a direct link to the stars and activities in Opry Land.

USA's programming is perhaps best described as a smorgasbord of programming for women, children, teen-agers, and sports fans, with enough features to ensure the presentation of something for everyone.

Jacob said Cinemax is one of the most popular pay services in the nation and offers the best supporting role to HBO with its own blockbuster movies and menu of special and feature presentations.

The expansion of service will allow the cable company to add Channel 25, WXXV-TV of Gulfport, to its bill of fare in 1985.

Originally scheduled to begin transmission in November of this year, the cable company learned of the delay yesterday from Robert I. Ratcliff, manager.

Cinemax, like HBO, is a 24-hour movie service.

Essex Cable TV passes in front of over 4,500 homes in Bay-Waveland. Expansion is now underway in adjacent areas of Hancock with additional construction planned into 1985.

County students given holiday to attend fair

BY DENA BISNETTE

Hancock County students will be dismissed from school Nov. 9 to attend the annual county fair.

The Hancock County School Board voted Saturday to declare Nov. 9 a holiday after Fair Association representative Larry Koenenn addressed board members.

The fair association was also represented by Walter Turcotte.

According to Koenenn, "Fair Day" has been a traditional holiday from school for Hancock County students but was not included in this year's school calendar.

"We know that it will be the only time some of these children will be able to attend the fair, and some of the others are participating with the livestock programs or other exhibits," Koenenn said.

Superintendent Terrell Randolph said not including the fair holiday in the calendar was an oversight.

Randolph's original opinion was that the holiday would have to be skipped or another day to replace it would have to be added the school year, currently scheduled to end on June 6.

"We'd have to add another day to make up for it, and we're going to be in school halfway into June as it is. We've already had some parents complain that closing school so late will interfere with summer jobs or vacations."

He explained that the number of days the students must attend school during the 1984-85 has already been set and can not be changed by a local school board.

Board members questioned Randolph's opinion and asked if another day, possibly one allocated to the Christmas holidays or spring break, might be substituted.

Randolph said a teacher workday had been scheduled for the week after the fair and could be moved up one week.

Students do not attend school on teacher workdays. The workday was already scheduled on the school calendar and moving it does not change the number of days the students will be attending school.

Teachers report to school as usual for workdays, which are used for in-service training and other projects.

'Wake-Up' defendants plead guilty, sentenced

Nine Bay St. Louis residents and one Lakeshore resident have pled guilty to drug charges in the Hancock County Circuit Court.

The defendants include Kenny Bell, 25, Walter Carter, 23, Sam Dorsey, 28, Andy Favre, 25, Brock J. Godwin, 19, Charles Necaise, 18, Kim Necaise, 19, Leroy Taylor, 27, and Andy Schoonmaker, 25, all of Bay St. Louis and David Hudson, 21, of Lakeshore.

They were arrested in connection with "Operation Wakeup" conducted in June by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police Departments, the Mississippi Highway Patrol and the St. Tammany Parish, La. Sheriff's Department.

Of the defendants, nine were sentenced to a two-year probationary period, fined $1,000 and ordered to pay court costs and refund the "buy money" used by the Sheriff's Office during the roundup.

The other defendant, Dorsey, will only have a one year probationary period and has a fine of $650.

Defendants Bell, Carter, Dorsey,

Hudson, Kim Necaise, Charley Necaise and Taylor are also required to reimburse the county $350 in fees for Public Defender William Frisbie.

All of these defendants along with Ronald Goodman, Abbott Goodman and Joseph E. Curet Jr. will avoid having felony records if they complete their probation successfully.

Both Abbott and Ronald Goodman were charged with possession of a controlled substance with intent to sell. In addition to a two-year probation period, they were fined $1,000 and will have to pay court costs and public defender fees.

Curet was placed on three years probation for the burglary of a Diamondhead dwelling. He must also pay court cost, attorney fees and restitution.

Also during court proceedings 23-year-old Lakeshore resident Ricky Curet pleaded guilty to the Dec. 22, 1983 armed robbery of the Majik Mart in Kiln. He was sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary.

Boys Town Choir alumnus John Mason of Hancock County will have the opportunity to see his former choir director Frank D. Szynski when the world-famous choir performs Nov. 20 at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum.

Since 1917 Boys Town, founded by Father Edward J. Flanagan in Nebraska, has provided homes for more than 16,000 boys including Mason.

The choir was started 43 years ago and has performed in nearly every state and in Canada, Japan and Cuba.

The 10- to 18-year-old choirboys project their artistry through a variety of music. From angelic soprano to resonant bass, they offer lilting Viennese waltzes, folk songs and calypso, musical comedy and classical polyphony. Medieval Twelfth-Night pageantry mingles with modern pop.

USM tests anti-fouling paint on data bouy

Barnacles, algae and slime have posed a costly and worrisome problem for the sophisticated, underwater oceanographic sensors relied upon by meteorologists for a wealth of marine data.

A team of University of Southern Mississippi researchers, however, under the direction of Dr. Shelby Thames, has attacked the problem by developing and testing anti-fouling paints that can now protect the devices from slimy denizens of the deep.

The federal Department of Energy has selected underground salt domes along the Gulf Coast states as facilities to store crude oil for the Strategic Petroleum Reserve Program.

Because some of these salt domes are filled with water containing large amounts of residual salt that must be discharged into the Gulf of Mexico, with an undetermined effect on the environment, the National Data Buoy Organization developed an Ocean Platform Environmental Monitoring System to monitor the brine discharge site for the West Hackberry salt dome near Cameron, La.

OPEMS meteorological and oceanographic sensors measure wind-speed and direction, air pressure and temperature, current speed and direction, surface and bottom temperature and conductivity.

One of the most serious problems encountered during this study has been an inability to control the growth of marine organisms on these submerged sensors. Such growth impedes the ability of the ocean sensor to gather and transmit meaningful data.

For three years, NDBO has contracted with USM's polymer science department to perform extensive research to develop effective anti-fouling paints for ocean sensors. Anti-fouling paints are coatings which prevent the attachment and growth of marine-fouling organisms. If not protected, the instruments are rapidly covered with fouling organisms that interfere with the normal electrical output of oceanic information.

Several USM graduate students working on the continual project recently attached an ocean sensor and test panels coated with the anti-fouling agent onto an eight-foot tripod and lowered the apparatus 43 feet into the water.

This test-site establishment took place approximately 15 miles off the coast of Biloxi and will be used for long-term exposure studies. Similar instruments have been undergoing testing off the coast of Cameron in 30 feet of water since September 1982.

Jeff Harris of Clarksdale, one of the graduate investigators of the project, said USM's coatings have been tested up to 18 months under these static conditions with excellent results, whereas some of the commercial coatings only last up to three or four months.

"We have formulated over 100 coatings but have narrowed it down to four that work very effectively," he said. The coatings painted onto the sensors contain a combination of chemical agents that work synergistically to absolutely resist growth of any ocean organism.

Harris said there are a variety of organisms that attach themselves to improperly protected instrumentation. "Those that cause the most trouble and damage are the barnacles and algae," he said. "Other types are bacteria and planktonic forms which form a slime film across the surface of the sensor almost as soon as the object is placed in the water."

Barnacles feed off the microscopic organisms and will therefore settle on top of the slime film along with algae zoospores, forming an encrusting mass on the instrument, he added, noting this fouling mass interferes with moving parts and eventually corrodes the metal surface.

Harris said the barnacles and algae grow through the usual corrosion preventive coatings and get next to the metal. This growth action thus leaves pathways by which saltwater can initiate and propagate corrosion.

Harris said it costs the federal government from $6,000-$10,000 each time an ocean sensor becomes inoperative and is taken from the sea floor for barnacle removal, repainting and redeployment in the water.

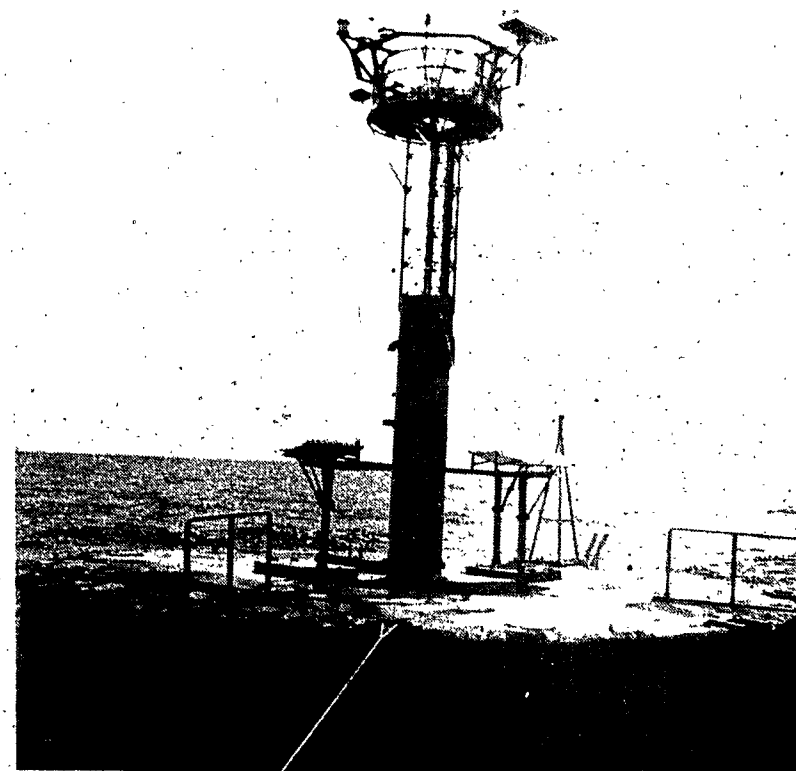

Although there are other exotic methods of fouling prevention on the market, Harris said they are extremely expensive and are not always safe. "Some other types of prevention include ultrasonic vibrations and radioactive isotopes which are very dangerous to use," he said. "The only effective method that is also economical are coatings which contain toxins we are presently studying."

When formulating the various coatings, certain variables have to be taken into consideration such as water temperature, the speed of water flow and water salinity.

"Not only do we have to look at these factors, but the coating must also be durable and the drying time should take no longer than one day."

Biloxi is one of the newest locations in which the sensors and test samples are being tested. The first test site established was in Lake Pontchartrain, near New Orleans in September 1982.

NDBO SENSOR—This National Data Buoy Organization's ocean sensor is one of several anchored in the Gulf of Mexico near the Chandeleur lighthouse. Experiments are being conducted by USM nearby to test anti-fouling paints for their resistance to barnacles, algae and slime.

Aerospace symposium set for Oct. 25-26

"Aerospace: the Golden Crescent" is the theme of the second annual Aerospace Technology Symposium at the student center of the University of New Orleans on Oct. 25-26.

Sponsored by the Greater New Orleans Section of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics (AIAA), the two-day event will feature 65 papers and presentations on the continuing development of aerospace technology in the Southeastern United States. The "golden crescent" refers to that area encompassing New Orleans, Houston, Huntsville and Cape Canaveral, primary centers of aerospace technology since the earliest days of the space program.

Authors representing 15 aerospace companies, numerous universities and NASA space centers will discuss the past, present and future of the space industry. Topics range from the history of heat shields for manned flights to establishment of a permanent Lunar colony and the November 1984 shuttle mission to retrieve the Palapa and Westar satellites.

Additional topics include developments in robotics; manufacturing and testing; computer-aided design and analysis and quality control; and how each contributes to the planned U.S. Space Station, scheduled for deployment in the early 1990's.

Papers will be presented in ten concurrent sessions beginning on Thursday, Oct. 25 and continuing through Friday, Oct. 26.

America's most experienced astronaut, John Young, will address a session at 8:30 a.m. to discuss his experiences as commander of the maiden flights of Columbia on STS-1 and Spacelab on STS-9.

Lt. General Forrest S. McCartney, commander of the U.S. Air Force Space Division, will speak to a luncheon meeting at noon Friday.

Symposium activities also include a cocktail party at Sclafani's restaurant, 9900 Haynes Blvd., from 5 to 8 p.m. Thursday and a tour of the National Space Technologies Laboratories from 3 to 5 p.m. Friday.

Symposium fees are $30 for AIAA members, $40 for nonmembers and $15 for full-time students. Tickets are also available for individual events. For more information, call Joyce Ronquillo at (504) 255-3910 or Paul Fitzgerald at (504) 255-4588.

NELL KOENENN

CANDIDATE

HANCOCK COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD - DISTRICT 5

It will be my pleasure and privilege to serve as your representative.

I, Nell Koenenn, am qualified to effectively and honestly serve in this vital position. "Vital position" because the members of the school board directly effect the future of our children and grandchildren.

I am a lifelong resident of Hancock County and have been involved with the operations and problems of the county school system throughout my entire life.

Both my father and mother (Mr. & Mrs. Ed Breland) spent their lives teaching school in Hancock County, with my father being honored for serving as Superintendent of the Hancock County School System.

As Ed Breland's daughter, I was involved with assisting him, learning many of the workings of a school board member.

I am the mother of three children, all of whom received 12 successful years of schooling in Hancock County.

As an interested and concerned mother, I took part in all school activities, giving me considerable exposure to the system.

In this day of progress and growth of Hancock County, one can foresee many problems in changes of the future in our educational system.

I am qualified and prepared to face not only these new problems, but also to correct mistakes in the system of the past.

This is a countywide election, and I sincerely solicit the help and support of all qualified voters.

I promise you a full term of devoted, unselfish service for the betterment of the children and the school system of Hancock County.

PLEASE VOTE FOR ME, NELL KOENENN, ON NOVEMBER 6TH.

THANK YOU VERY MUCH

Point of Law

Prepared by the Mississippi State Bar. Some rights may vary from locality to locality. Always consult an attorney when in doubt about your legal rights.

Q: I entered into an oral agreement with an acquaintance to buy his house and lot for $50,000. I paid him $500 as earnest money. He has now informed me that he has changed his mind and refuses to complete the sale. He has also refused to return my earnest money. Can I force him to sell me the house, or at least to return my money?

A: Contracts for the sale of real estate, including a house and lot, must generally be in writing to be enforceable. Unless your seller has signed some written memorandum setting forth the basic terms of your agreement, you will not be able to force him to sell you the property. You can, however, sue him for the return of your earnest money.

Q: I have recently purchased a piece of undeveloped land in a rural area. The land is not fenced, and is accessible by a narrow private road. The road is clearly marked with a "No Trespassing" sign. If someone enters my land and is injured, am I responsible?

A: Ordinarily, there is no duty on the part of a landowner to protect a trespasser from dangers on his property. Intruders who come without permission have no right to demand that the owner provide them with a safe place to trespass. When trespassers enter, they must assume the risk of what they encounter. So, you would probably not be responsible.

BAYS boys victorious in inter-city contest

The bulk of the Under-16 Alcan Cable team has moved up to the Under-19 Boys Division, and after a couple of weeks of practice, appears to be maintaining the momentum generated in their fine showing in last year's playoffs.

In a friendly inter-city game with Picayune on Sunday, Alcan prevailed by a score of 6 to 0. Tom Walton and Randy Jordan scored two goals each and Sam Seymour scored one. The defense was impregnable, shutting out our opponents with goalies Clinton Edwards and Mark Wheeler, ably supported by a strong contingent of fullbacks, Dave Blanchard and Jeff Reisch.

Coach Demboski stated, "With the enthusiasm displayed by the young men on this team I am looking forward to a good year." He noted that there is no recreational division at this age group, therefore the team will compete with select teams from around the state.

Since there are more candidates than positions on the team, tryouts will be conducted within the next two weeks. The time and place will be announced.

Soccer Results

BOYS

BAYS Under-12 were in a contest with an undefeated select team from Mandeville, La. Coach Loiacano said, "The teams played two games—one in rain, the other in mud—and the BAYS were defeated each time after a hard-fought battle.

BAYS Under-14 teams, The Raiders, coached by Paul Montjoy and Waddy LeBourgeois, (team not yet named) met in a practice game at the St. Augustine Seminary Field on Saturday. There were no goals scored in the first half. LeBourgeois' team scored two goals in the second half. David Echerd scored both goals. Final score 2-0.

BAYS Under-16, sponsored by the Merchants Bank played a select team from Mandeville but BAYS' team was defeated.

BAYS Under-19 team, sponsored by Alcan Cable was pitted against a Picayune team on Sunday. Alcan defeated Picayune. Final score 6-0.

GIRLS

BAYS Under-14 team, The Cannonballs, sponsored by Cannon Copying Machine, coached by JoAnn Duncan, played the Slidell Warriors this past Saturday. Coach Duncan stated, "Slidell scored two quick goals in the first half but the Cannonballs came back in the second half and scored one goal and held Slidell scoreless for the remainder of the game." Final score 2 to 1 Slidell.

BAYS Under-8, 10 and 16 had no game this week.

BAYS Under-12, Dynamite, sponsored by Dillman, Inc., were defeated by the Gators in Slidell this past Saturday. Final score 3-0.

Coach Kathy Edwards was misquoted last week and her statement should have read, "This team is showing great improvement weekly."

Soccer clinic termed success

The soccer clinic held Saturday at the St. Augustine Seminary field was well attended by players and coaches. Students and coaches competed and students won. Final score, students 2, coaches 1.

BAYS soccer thanks all who assisted in making this clinic an outstanding success.

Duncan, Guice join select soccer team

The South Mississippi Soccer Club has completed two weeks of try-outs for the Under-14 Select Team.

Coach Doug Stovall and his assistants began working with the new team which includes members from five area schools.

This year's team will again be sponsored by Coca-Cola.

The Coke Express members from Bayou View Junior High are Stevie Barnett, Dietrick Clausell, Jay Haynes, Jason Howes, Bert Palazzo and Jason Stovall.

North Gulfport Junior High players are Chris Graham, Mike Guieu, Steve Kerns and Shane Rogers.

Chris Miller, Richard Mueller and Carly Smith attend Long Beach Junior High.

Joel Duncan is from St. Stanislaus and Billy Guice from Coast Episcopal.

The 15 team members have been invited to participate in a Baton Rouge Tournament later in October. The tournament will be for Select Teams in Louisiana and southern Mississippi.

Stovall invited Bob Moulin, a college coach from St. Augustine, Fla., for a week-long clinic for prospective team members. Soccer skills as well as tactics and play development were the main areas of drill and study.

Sports Brief

USM FOOTBALL

Tailback Vincent Alexander became the 26th player in Golden Eagle history to rush for over 1,000 yards in his career during USM's 13-10 victory over Ole Miss Saturday afternoon in Jackson.

Against the Rebels he rushed for 111 yards on 15 carries and now has gained 492 yards this season on 91 carries, to lead the team in rushing. In his short career the Covington, La. sophomore has rushed for 1,043 yards on 194 attempts and scored five rushing TDs.

The Golden Eagles have also utilized Alexander as a kickoff returner in his two seasons. In 1983 he returned seven kickoffs for 237 yards, including a memorable 96-yard return against Alabama in Birmingham's Legion Field. This season he has returned 13 for 233 yards.

Murtagh found Jordan hidden in an air conditioner vent in the attic of the house.

Jordan was charged with six counts of burglary and is being held in the Hancock County Jail on $100,000 bond.

Peterson said Jordan was out on bond on previous burglary charges at the time of his arrest.

He said Jordan was unarmed when arrested but added that the house was surrounded because authorities did not know if the suspect had a weapon or not.

The juvenile was arrested the same day and was also charged with six counts of burglary. He has been sent to St. Tammany Parish, where he is wanted for attempted murder and armed robbery in connection with a recent robbery at the Charter Oil and Gas Station on Old Highway 90.

In that robbery, a 73-year-old clerk was shot after reportedly cooperating with the robbers. Peterson said the clerk is still hospitalized in Louisiana.

The third suspect is still at large but is also wanted in connection with the Charter robbery.

Peterson said two safes taken in the Bay St. Louis burglaries and an ax used to break into them were found off Bayou LaCroix Road. Also recovered were various papers the safes had contained.

Two guns, including a .25 automatic allegedly used in the Charter robbery and a .38 caliber gun believed to belong to the Charter clerk, were also recovered.

None of the stolen money was found but an opal necklace and a phone taken from the Haas office have been found.

Peterson said investigators Delbert Seay of the sheriff's department, Joe Pica of Bay Police Department and Robert Tartavouille of Waveland Police Department are continuing the investigation.

Hospital.

The bid from Deposit Guaranty Bank and Trust Company of Jackson was accepted on the advice of Hospital Board attorney Robert Genin, who had been granted the authority to speak for the hospital board in order to allow final approval the day the bid was taken.

The bonds will cover the cost of the architectural and engineering services required in completing plans and specifications for additional hospital facilities on Highway 90.

A second bid arrived late and was not opened.

In additional business Monday, the board heard a request from Sheriff Ronald Peterson for a resolution endorsing a local and private bill permitting the use of radar speed detectors in the county and approved the widening of the Lugs Necaise Road.

The supervisors also heard a report on a complaint by Bond Paving against Advanced Development

Inc. president Michael Smith, the board of supervisors and the port and harbor commission. Gex said the complaint, which involves liquidated damages on a contract for Stennis Airport improvements, has been upgraded to a lawsuit.

The board has also been informed that the U.S. Army has acknowledged the receipt of a recently passed resolution approving maintenance of Texas Flat Road by the supervisors if the army agrees to pave it.

Dedeaux charged with burglary

Ellis Anthony Dedeaux, 30, of Pass Christian was jailed Monday after being charged with attempted burglary of his ex-wife's house.

Dedeaux had been released on $25,000 bond while his conviction for aggravated assault is being appealed. He had been convicted and sentenced last month for the shooting of his ex-wife.

Mrs. Dedeaux was left a quadriplegic after a bullet that entered her neck, fractured her spine.

Pass Christian Police Department Investigator To Ruspoli said Dedeaux allegedly tried to break in Mrs. Dedeaux's house early Saturday morning.

Dedeaux is being held without bond in the Harrison County Jail in Gulfport.

INFLAMED NERVES
These conditions occur more frequently than previously believed. When nerves in the body become inflamed, they often create conditions of acute pain. Of course, the location of the pain varies with the nerve affected and the course it travels in the body. The majority of these cases are the direct result of TWENTY-FOUR HOUR pressure. Structural problems within the spinal column cause nerve root pressure of the nerve fibers. Active pain of numbness and/or even conditions such as sciatica, hernia and muscle spasms are most often directly related to inflamed nerves. Nerve root pressure is the pain but correction will not occur until the inflamed nerve fibers and nerve root pressure is removed. A Chiropractic examination will let you know if your condition is caused by nerve root pressure within the spinal column. Good health is your responsibility but we stand ready to serve you should the occasion arise.

LET'S TALK FACTS

A new Hancock County jail is inevitable whether we vote yes or whether the Federal Government orders us to do so. Failure to meet minimum Federal requirements for jails has resulted in costly fines throughout the country. Because neighboring Mobile County failed to meet Federal requirements, U.S. District Judge Virgil Pittman has imposed a $5000-per-day fine until these requirements are met. Their fine alone is now nearly $3 million. Let's avoid a fine and build a new jail.

The need is urgent.

Rocks go for 4th victory

By Tom Ackerman
Friday will mark the turning point in the season for the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws when they face East Central in their seventh contest of the season.

The over-riding question is whether or not the Rocks can regain that momentum that propelled them to three season-opening victories—their best start in recent memory.

According to Rock head coach Vernon Powell, getting the momentum back is only one of the problems facing his team.

"East Central has always given us a tough ball game," Powell commented, beginning the list of obstacles the Rocks will face as they prepare for Friday's contest at East Central.

"Another thing is we've got (first quarter) tests this week. Tests always take a lot out of our players. They strive to do well on the tests and then, by the end of the week, they're mentally drained.

On top of that, Powell noted, there's the long bus ride. "That's always a problem." And the team is still plagued by those little sprains and bruises that have hounded them all season. "We're still pretty beat up," Powell said.

In order to stay in the game with East Central, even though they have managed to win only one game, the Rocks are going to have to try to avoid the type of mistakes that led to their 46-7 drubbing at Petal last week.

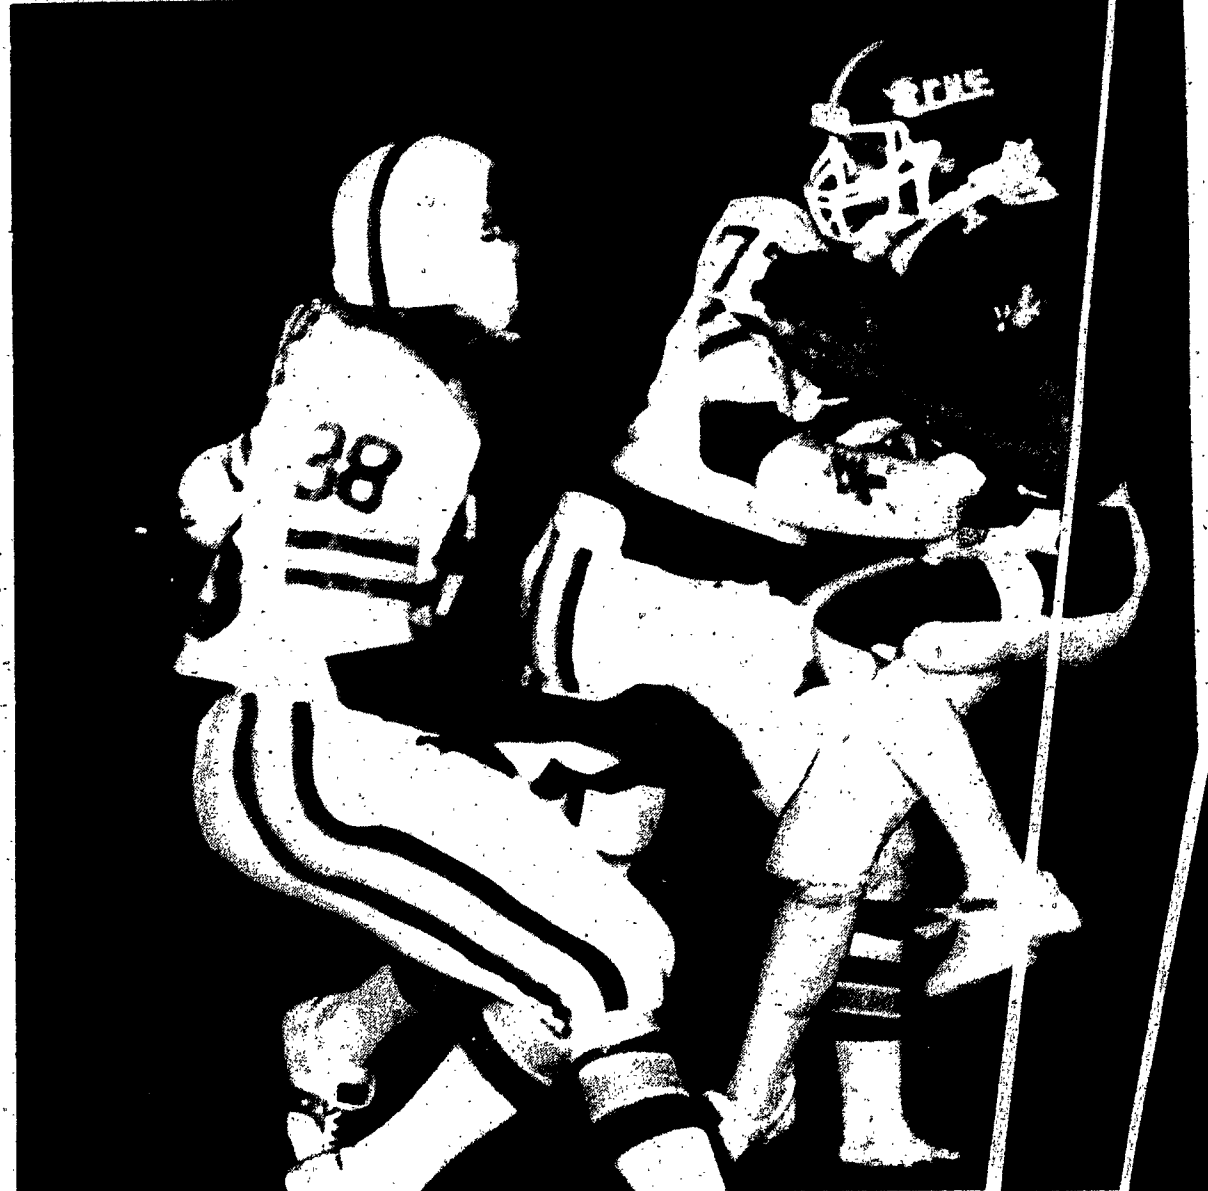

"I don't think Petal was a better team than we are," Powell said, by way of explanation. "But anytime you make nine turnovers within your own 25-yard line, it's kind of tough to fight back from there."

"When we did finally get our offense moving," Powell continued, "when we didn't make a fumble or something else, we took the ball into the end zone."

But the question still remains. Will the last three losses after the first three wins affect the Rock's momentum?

"Well, you just have to put out of your mind the losses," the coach explained. "Each week is a new ball game. You learn from your mistakes, and you go on from there."

"I don't think the problem is that we lack confidence," he continued. "We're just missing that little momentum we had going in those first three games. In order to win, you've got to make things happen—and that's what we've got to do Friday."

Pirates plan ground game improvements

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Pass Christian Pirates will be hosting the Vancleave Bulldogs this week as the Pirates go for their sixth victory of the season.

With a 5-2 record for the Pirates and a 6-1 record for the Bulldogs, Coach Alton Wright says the Pass Christian team will still have to play a good game to win.

"No matter what their record is, there has always been a rivalry between the schools," he said.

We will stay with what we normally do and try to get the ground game going again, Wright said.

"Against Pearl River last week we weren't able to get the ground game started, but we have been working hard on it this week," he said.

One thing in the Pirates' favor is that team members should be almost 100 percent healthy this week.

Wright said only in the first or second game of the season were the Pirates 100 percent healthy. We will certainly be more healthy this week than we were last week, he said.

Guard Chris Vincent, who has not been able to play because of a shoulder injury, will be back, he added.

"If we play like we have been doing, we should be able to win the game," Wright said. "But we can not take them lightly."

"We can not afford to overlook them or judge the Bulldogs by their past scores," he said. "I just hope the team looks at it like that."

Wright said last week the entire defensive line played superbly in the second half, not giving up anything to the Blue Devils.

Defensive standouts were Winston Ausmer, Shinnall Conway, Mark Boyd, Joey Rogers and Irvin Hall.

Offensively, Joey Rogers had an outstanding game, Wright said.

Rogers threw the ball 19 times with 10 completions for 160 yards. He also tied with Tony Howell for the game's leading rusher with 30 yards each.

Howell is the overall leading rusher for the Pirates with more than 500 yards gained during the season. Omar Saahir has gained more than 300 yards.

Wright also commended Alan and Jason Dedeaux and Anthony Woods for a good blocking game.

Speed to be problem for Tigers

The Tigers will have to contend with both power and speed Friday when Bay St. Louis High School travels to St. Martin.

The game will also be a contest between teams that both use a balanced offensive attack.

According to Tiger Head Coach Cleveland Williams, the Tiger defense will have to be able to stop a powerful fullback and a tailback who can sprint 100 yards in 10 seconds flat.

In addition, the defense will have to contend with a quarterback who was a good passer and runner early in the season but has been sidelined with injuries until this week.

Offensively, both teams have been using a combination of passing and running. However, Williams said the Tiger offense is beginning to lose some of the balance that helped them win earlier games.

"Our passing game overshadows our running game right now," he explained. "If we could get both attacks working simultaneously, it would be to our advantage in this game."

Part of the reason the passing attack has helped the Tigers so much in recent games is quarterback Jeffery Smith. Smith has passed for 1,009 yards already this season.

Smith credits his receivers for his passing record and says the offensive line has done a great job keeping the pressure of the opposing team's defense away from him.

Two other factors expected to affect this week's game are errors and injuries.

"Even though the Tigers won their last four games, we are still making mistakes that could hurt us in crucial situations," Williams said.

Possibly missing the Friday game due to injury will be Dennis Dear, a wide receiver, and cornerback hurt in last Friday's East Central game.

However, the Tigers will finally be able to use Steve McRaney Friday. McRaney, a key defensive and offensive player, has been sidelined for the early part of the season after suffering a preseason hand injury, has been kicking in recent games and has been added to Friday's starting lineup.

Starters are expected to include McRaney, Smith, Butch Pierce, Kevin James, Patrick Whavers, Jerry Heald, Greg Necaise, Phillip Hart, Robert Hargett, Trace McRaney, Matt Fairconnetue and Richard Whavers.

Army Ammunition Plant

Data proves deer malnourished

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Bowhunters who have participated in a controversial deer hunt on lands leased by the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant in NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories buffer zone report they are still looking for the tame deer.

They say the deer are not easily spotted and are as wild as they have seen in any other area where hunting is allowed.

"There is not a deer behind every tree," says Raymond Schmitt, an experienced bowhunter and state director of the Mississippi Bowhunters Association and associate member of the Federal Wildlife Association.

Schmitt, who averages three deer per season harvested with a bow, says he has not even seen any deer from a tree, the times he has hunted deer at NSTL.

"There is not going to be a slaughter, like it was said there would be," bowhunter Richard Schaffer added.

Schaffer, a member of the Mississippi Coastal Archery Association and an associate member of the National Bowhunters Association, reports that the kill ratio of four to five percent for the local hunts is far below the state average of 27 percent.

"Deer have been sighted but only a few at a close enough range to get a clear shot," Schaffer said.

Probably some of the best bowhunters in Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River counties are hunting out at NSTL, Schaffer said, but the number of deer taken is still low.

Schaffer added that the weather could be a factor and that more deer would probably be sighted as the weather gets cooler.

Only 16 deer have been killed by hunters in the eight hunts through last Thursday, according to Capt. Aaron Cobb, executive director of the Army Ammunition Plant.

Cobb says that data gathered from the deer harvested has verified the information from a 1980 study which recommended the hunt and a 1983 health check which revealed the herd was in a marginal condition due to low fat stores, small body sizes and below normal reproduction.

Cobb reported that the largest deer harvested was a three and a half-year-old buck that weighed 80 pounds. Normally deer this old have a body weight of 120-140 pounds.

According to Cobb, the average weight of the deer harvested has been 44 pounds. The smallest deer was a 50 pound, six and a half-year-old doe.

Under normal conditions does above the age of one and a half years weigh between 95 to 105 pounds.

The 1980 study conducted for the Foundation of Natural Resources Management by Dr. Carroll Perkins, wildlife biologist, said if some of the deer are not removed, the area would become overcrowded; a large portion of the range would be destroyed; the deer will become parasite-infested and disease-ridden.

Many will die, the report stated. The study recommended a controlled archery deer hunt for the fall of this year with the hunt to continue each year thereafter.

Schmitt said that for this time of the year, the principal food source for deer is acorns but in the hunting area only diseased acorns are left on the ground.

"There is virtually no food left for the deer in the area except briars," Schaffer added.

"I'm not just for the kill," Schmitt said. "I was thinking the bowhunters are supposed to be there, squirrel hunting and down the trees of a snake, catching a frog."

And Schmitt said he was not sure if the deer are as tame as they are added. "But I know they are tame."

what is necessary to protect the overall health of the animals."

The deer harvested at NSTL were all suffering from malnutrition and this stems from overpopulation, Schaffer said.

In addition to the small body sizes of the deer harvested, malnutrition has been indicated by the small antler size on the bucks taken, he said.

"It seems like it takes deer two years to grow antlers to the size normally found on a one-year-old deer," Schaffer said.

This small antler growth is due to a mineral deficiency, he said.

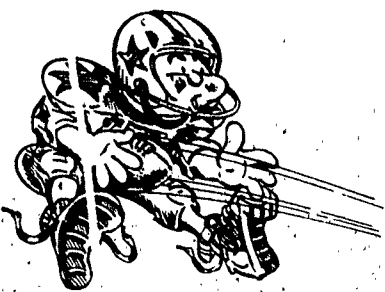

Deer harvested at NSTL barely have spikes at the age of one and a half years old. In a good healthy population they would have four to six point antler racks.

The 1983 health check recommended a 40 percent harvest rate for the estimated deer population of 300. This percentage would allow 180 deer to be harvested, but a 110 percent harvest rate has been set by the Army.

Cobb believes that the deer harvested in the past few years will be significantly healthier.

The only way to protect the deer is to remove them from the area, he said. "If we don't remove them, they will be a significant problem."

SWIFT RUNNER—Dylan Langdon No. 2 makes a long gain for Coast Episcopal High School in Friday night action against Grace Academy of Ocean Springs. The Eagles defeated the Raiders 17-0 in a high scoring game in Ocean Springs. (CEHS Photo).

RAIDER DEFENSE—Paul Montjoy (14), Coast Episcopal High Raiders linebacker, moves in on James Fairly, fullback for Grace Academy, in Friday's eight-man high school football contest at Gay Lemon Field in Ocean Springs. Grace's 42-26 victory gave the Eagles the Gulf Coast Conference title with a record of 7-1 and spoiled the previously unbeaten Raider's 4-0 record. CEHS will meet Open Door Academy in Foley, Ala. this week with a 7:30 p.m. kickoff Friday. Coast earlier this year defeated Open Door 28-20. (CEHS photo)

Wildcats to host East Mississippi

The Pearl River College Wildcats have their backs to the wall. Only two games remain on the 'Cats' '94 schedule and they'll have to win both to salvage a winning season.

After losing 24-0 to the Copiah-Lincoln Wolves this past Saturday, the Wildcats' overall record fell to 3-4-1. Now, the 'Cats to keep from posting its second consecutive losing season, they must beat Southwest this Saturday at home and East Mississippi on the road the following Thursday.

Pearl River College has not posted back to back losing seasons since the 1944-45 campaigns.

J. C. Arban, the Wildcats' head coach, was still obviously upset Monday with his offensive unit's performance on Saturday.

"They (the offense) stunk," said Arban. "The kicking, the running, the blocking was terrible. Our offense took us out of the game early."

Arban said it was a shame for running back Marvin Houston to work so hard and hustle so much with none out there helping him. "Marvin was our only bright spot," Arban said. "I'm tired worrying about feelings. We were sorry on offense. It is amazing how you can perform this poorly this late in the season."

Arban hinted that the Wildcats may have had a let down from last week's loss to the Gulf Coast Bulldogs. Then he said, "No, that's not a reason. I know we are a better football team than we demonstrated Saturday."

The Wildcats gave up the football three times on fumbles and four times on interceptions. One interception was returned for a touchdown.

Arban singled out defensive ends Richard Poole and Richard Hughes and linebacker Mark McLeod for doing an excellent job. "Our defense played well," Arban said. Actually the defense allowed the 7-1 Wolves only 71 yards passing and 180 rushing, while playing the majority of the game.

This week the Wildcats will take on the Southwest Junior College Bears at the Dobie Holden Stadium. The Bears defeated East Central 21-0 this past Saturday and now post a 5-3 conference mark.

Coast Episcopal stages Halloween rehearsal

The Coast Episcopal Elementary School calendar includes special celebrations on Halloween and All Saints Day.

Parades around the school grounds and room parties are included in the Halloween festivities.

Prizes for originality and creativity in costumes are awarded.

A special prayer service is scheduled at 9 a.m. on All Saints Day, Nov. 1.

Parents and friends are invited to the service for which sixth graders have selected heroes as theme of the liturgy.

Kindergartners dress as Saints for the All Saints Day celebration, and costumes of first through sixth grades reflect the spirit of Halloween.

NATIONAL ESSAY WINNER—Anna di Benedetto visits with her adviser, Dr. James J. Cooke, professor of history at The University of Mississippi. The Bay St. Louis student, a recent Ole Miss graduate now studying in France, was one of five national winners for her discussion of solutions to the Middle East conflict.

di Benedetto in France on Fulbright Scholarship

An outstanding University of Mississippi student from Bay St. Louis has returned from the Middle East and embarked for France on educational tours resulting from scholastic excellence.

Anna Maria di Benedetto was one of five winners in a national essay contest on solutions to Arab-Israeli conflicts of the Middle East sponsored by the Arab Women's Council, Research and Education Fund.

It earned her a four-week tour of Jordan, Tunisia and the West Bank. She talked with many officials, including Palestinian Liberation Front leaders, the past president of the World Jewish Congress, the mayors of Bethlehem and Nazareth and others.

She also spoke to troubled refugees and maimed survivors of the age-old conflicts. "It definitely upheld the views in my paper, but it was so much more for the heart and mind to be able to see and talk to these people, to feel their emotions and to experience the sights and sounds and smells of the Palestinian refugee camps," she said.

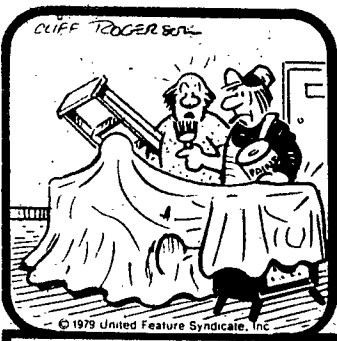

Miss di Benedetto, who earned a degree in French at Ole Miss, believes that U.S. media are pro-Israeli and that an objective view is needed in order to obtain any meaningful and lasting peace in the region. She believes the Palestinians are deserving of an established homeland of their own.

"The Palestinians cannot continue to suffer for the persecution of Jews in another time and place," she concludes in her essay. "If the world does not respond to the cry of these people, then maybe in 2,000 years, after wandering the globe unsuccessfully searching for somewhere to settle, they will have gained the strength to win back their home."

"In the meantime, I have learned the location of Palestine. But I have also learned that all the declarations of human rights ever written are being violated as the world chooses to look the other way. In view of the facts, opinions and emotions, I believe that the two nations, Israel and Palestine, can live side by side enjoying peace under their one God, to whom each prays."

Tee Vee Laffs

YOU'D THINK THEY'D WAIT UNTIL THE FOOTBALL SEASON IS OVER BEFORE THEY CALL US PAINTERS IN!

The Ole Miss honor student thinks, however, that the Middle East conflict "will get worse before it gets better."

and sees no real solution to the problems, "not in the next 20 to 50 years." Miss di Benedetto is now in France, having earned a Fulbright Scholarship to study French, international relations, Spanish and Italian at the University of Bordeaux and to teach French to high school students. She studied in France during her junior year at Ole Miss.

While French is her second language, she is also fluent in Spanish and Italian. She is interested in a possible career in foreign service with the Department of State. More immediately, she is interested in applying for a military commission abroad so she can use her experience with languages.

Paul named semifinalist in scholarship contest

George Paul of Bay Senior High School has been named a semifinalist in the 1985 Merit Scholarship competition. He is the son of Mrs. Syble Paul of Diamondhead and the late Wiley L. Paul.

Paul is a senior and currently serving as vice president of his class. He is also captain of the varsity quiz bowl team, president of the Youth Legislature Club and a second-year member of the National Honor Society.

Paul has received a certificate of honor for the past two years for the national French test and the math awards in algebra I, algebra II and geometry from Bay Senior High. He was Bay High's representative to Boys State, where he was elected to serve as attorney general. Last year, he was Mississippi's State American Legion Oratorical winner.

Competition began last fall when more than one million juniors attending some 18,000 secondary schools throughout the nation took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. The top scorers in each state, representing about half of one percent of the state's high school graduating class, were named semifinalists.

To be considered for merit scholarships, semifinalists must become finalists by documenting high academic performance throughout high school, receiving the unqualified recommendation and endorsement of their principals and confirming their earlier PSAT/NMSQT scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test. They also must provide information about themselves, including school and community activities and achievements, interests and goals.

More than 13,500 of the semifinalists are expected to meet the rigorous standards required to become finalists and about 40 percent of the finalists will be offered merit scholarships.

The 1985 class of merit scholars, to be announced next spring, will join some 84,000 other academic champions who have received merit scholarships worth $247 million since the first program was completed in 1956.

WE HANDLE 40,000 TONS OF COAL A WEEK. BECAUSE IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE.

It takes a lot of coal to keep our customers supplied with electricity. I know because I see — and handle — it all.

The trains arrive four times a week. Hundred-car trains from Utah and Colorado. And every car carries a hundred tons of coal. Forty thousand tons a week.

First, we make sure the coal gets unloaded. Then we crush it and convey it — we have more than a mile of conveyor systems — on up to the plant.

Actually, we often have more coal coming in than we can use. So we keep a stockpile. That way, we don't run short during times of peak demand or disrupted supplies. We plan ahead.

Most people probably don't realize how much planning goes into meeting their energy needs. But they know that when they flip the switch, it's there. To me, that makes all the difference in the world.

Stanislaus, Bay High entered in south state drama festival

The 13th Annual South Mississippi High School Drama Festival Nov. 2-3 at the University of Southern Mississippi will feature students from 12 schools competing for a chance to participate in the state festival.

Two schools will be selected to participate in the State Drama Festival Jan. 18, 1985, at Hinds Junior College in conjunction with the Mississippi Theatre Association's annual convention.

The number of schools competing in the South Mississippi event is limited to 12 but there is no limit to the number of schools that can bring students as observers. The students will be treated to two performances of USM theatre productions.

Friday Nov. 2, the students will attend a special performance of "Something's Afoot," a murder mystery/musical based on an Agatha Christie novel. When this musical who-dunnit opened in 1976, the New York Post said, "The show is engaging and funny, refreshing in the originality of its idea."

A special premiere performance of USM's touring company, "A Trunk Full of Comedy," is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 3, immediately before the festival's awards ceremony, which is scheduled for noon in the Performing Arts Center.

Each high school will receive a certificate rating its performance as superior, excellent, good or honorable mention. All-star cast, outstanding direction and overall merit awards also will be given. Excellence in costumes, scenery and props will be recognized with the Technical Achievement Award.

"The festival brings students together to increase their interest in drama by sharing ideas, seeing plays presented by other schools and meeting with students performing in the USM productions," said Blaine Quarstrom, theatre department chairman.

Pre-registration is recommended by Oct. 26. For additional information, contact the USM Theatre Department at 266-4994 or Conferences and Workshops at 266-4184.

Federal loan to fund facelift for USM dorms

The University of Southern Mississippi will receive a low-interest $2.7 million federal loan to completely renovate and refurbish three aging dormitories on the Hattiesburg campus.

USM officials confirmed Thursday the U.S. Department of Education has approved the university's application for the loan, which will be paid back at 3 percent interest over 30 years with funds generated by student housing fees.

Dr. Charlie H. Probst, associate professor and dean of student housing, said the money would be used to renovate Mississippi Hall and Hattiesburg Hall, two male dormitories that currently house about 178 students apiece, and Hickman Hall, a women's dorm that houses 193 students. Hattiesburg Hall was constructed in 1912, Mississippi Hall in 1914 and Hickman Hall in 1951.

Probst said the renovation work would include the installation of air conditioning and new heating systems; replacement of electrical systems; painting and woodwork; an upgrading of restroom facilities; and the installation of tile and carpet in several areas.

The actual work is expected to get under way about January of 1986.

The USM official said the dorms would be renovated one at a time so as not to create a student housing shortage at the university. He said the work would be done during the second semester and summer months, when student enrollment normally drops off, and space would be available in other dormitories to house students displaced by the renovation project.

DOD funding space materials research at USM department

The United States Defense Department has awarded the University of Southern Mississippi a $230,000 grant aimed at promoting research on materials used for space shuttles, platforms and airplanes.

The grant, the largest received by the university during the month of August, was awarded to the USM Department of Polymer Science for research work on high-strength and low-weight polymer composites as a possible replacement for heavy metals currently used in shuttle and aircraft construction.

Acquired on a proposal submitted by Dr. Lon Jay Mathias, associate professor of polymer science, the grant will be combined with contributions to polymer science and university matching funds to purchase a Fourier transform nuclear magnetic resonance spectrometer (FT-NMR).

The FT-NMR is a machine capable of looking at synthetic compounds (polymers) on their molecular level to determine the chemical compositions and how the parts or molecules are moving.

USM presently has two spectrometers that are similar, but which look at only the chemical composition of polymers containing hydrogen and carbon. The new machine will cost six times as much as each of those the university now owns, but it will have 20 times their capability.
